Randen is the nickname of the Keifuku Electric Railroad.

The Arashiyama Line, called "Randen", opened in 1910 as the "Arashiyama Electric Tram". Since first opening its doors, Randen has continued to run alongside the history of Kyoto as the city's only tram line.

- Randen runs approximately every 10 minutes.
- It takes about 24 minutes from Shijō-Ōmiya to Arashiyama, and takes about 12 minutes from Katabiranotsuji to Kitano-Hakubaicho.

Arashiyama Main Line

Arashiyama-Sagano

Crowds of tourists from Japan and overseas visit this popular area where the Togetsu-kyō Bridge, Road of the Bamboo Forest, and a number of famous temples dot the rich, natural landscape in all four seasons.

• Get off at A13 Arashiyama Station.

Rokuōin Temple

The Hodoji Temple of Mt. Kakuyu was founded on the orders of Yoshimitsu Ashikaga to pray to add years to his life. Tales are told of flocks of wild deer appearing when the Rokuōin Temple was first erected as the Kaisan-dō (hall where the statue of the founding priest is placed), from which it received its name. Although Hodoji Temple was destroyed during the Onin War, Rokuōin Temple was restored and still offers visitors a glimpse of its past glory. The beautiful autumnal-tinted maple leaves are also popular with visitors.

• Walk about 4 minutes from A11 Rokuōin Station.

Kitano Line

Ninnaji Temple

Monzeki Temple, the former imperial palace, was first requested to be built by Emperor Koukou and finally established during the reign of Emperor Uda. Ninnaji Temple is famous for its grounds with many places of interest, its delicate and beautiful palace and the late-blooming Omurozakura cherry blossoms.

• Walk about 3 minutes from B9 Omuro-Ninnaji Station.

Tōjiin Temple

This temple was founded by Shogun Takauji Ashikaga. It is the family temple of the Ashikaga shogun. Successive generations of shoguns are enshrined here. Hokyoin pagoda, which houses Ashikaga's tomb, has been built between two gardens arranged around the Lotus Pond and Heart-shaped Pond that are said to have been created by Soseki Muso.

• Walk about 5 minutes from B8 Tōjiin-Ritsumeikan University Station.

Tenryuji Temple

This temple was built by the ruling shogun, Takauji Ashikaga, who dedicated the temple to pray for the repose of the soul of Emperor Go-Daigo. The temple features a number of places of interest, including the historic and beautiful Sogen-chi Garden, created by founder Soseki Muso.

• Get off at A13 Arashiyama Station.

Toei Kyoto Studio Park

This is a theme park for movies located in Uzumasa. Visitors can watch historical films and experience the world of period dramas with open sets, events and attractions! This is a popular location for shows featuring ninjas and mascot characters.

• Walk about 5 minutes from A7 Uzumasa-Kōryūji Station.
• Walk about 2 minutes from B1 Satsueisho-mae Station (Satsueisho Exit).

Myōshinji Temple

This temple was established when Emperor Hanazono renewed his imperial villa as a Zen temple and appointed Kanzan Egen as the founder. There are 46 sub-temples located on this vast mountain. An Unryu-zu (painting of dragon and clouds) has been drawn on the ceiling of the lecture hall by Kano Tan'yu.

• Walk about 3 minutes from B6 Myōshinji Station.

Kitano Tenmangu Shrine

This is the main shrine for all the tenmangu shrines in Japan, where Sugawara no Michizane, revered as the god of learning, is enshrined. It is known as one of the best scenic spots in Kyoto and is open to the public in the spring and fall. The grounds are crowded with visitors on the 25th of every month.

• Walk about 5 minutes from B9 Kitano-Hakubaichō Station.

Kurumazaki Jinja Shrine

This shrine is dedicated to Confucian scholar Yorinari Kiyohara from the late Heian period. The Geino Jinja Shrine (Shrine for Entertainers) located on the premises is a popular power spot for the many celebrities and entertainers who visit.

• Get off at A10 Kurumazaki-Jinja Station.

Nijo-jo Castle

Heijo Palace was built as the base of the Tokugawa shogunate. Large-scale renovations were carried out at a later date. The national treasure Ninomaru Palace, Otemon Gate, Suriyagura Turret, and Honmaru Palace are important cultural assets. The Ninomaru Garden is a national special place of scenic beauty.

• Walk or take the bus from A1 Shijō-Ōmiya Station.
• Take the Kyoto City Subway Tozai Line from A5 Randen-Tenjūgawa Station and get off at "Nijo-jo-mae" Station".

Ryōnanji Temple

Ryōnanji Temple was founded by Katsumoto Hosokawa. It is the site of Japan's most famous stone garden with 15 stones and white sand. The Chisoku wash basin, said to have been donated by Mitsukuni Mito, and Kyoyo-ike Pond in the fall are popular draws.

• Walk about 7 minutes from B7 Ryōnanji Station.

Kinkakuji Temple (Golden Pavilion)

This is the sub-temple of Shokokuji Temple. It is called Kinkakuji Temple for its famed golden reliquary hall. After Yoshimitsu Ashikaga's death, it was converted from a mountain villa to a temple with Kōchūji Muso named as founder.

• Walk about 15 minutes from B9 Kitano-Hakubaichō Station.
